

exercises. Then the music classes start in which children get involved in music and healing sessions. "Evenings are lighter and lot of recreational activities keeps children busy and entertained," added Kumar.

her nerves. She was a hyper kid so it was much needed to relax her nerves. Now being in wheelchair she can compete with professional singers. We also financially support her time and again by conducting her stage performances," told Kavita.

a life of dignity. We organise musical events and stage shows to put the performances of special kids so that they can be understood and appreciated. It also boost their talent and encourage them to perform better," expressed Kumar.

Budding science talents

YOUNG SCIENTISTS: The kids explained about their projects in detail to the judges

A two-day regional science exhibition was organised by CBSE at Bloom Public School, Vasant Kunj. The event was categorised into six themes in which 85 schools participated from Delhi NCR. Exhibits were under the categories, Mathematics in everyday life, Health, Environment, Energy and Conversation Resources, Agriculture and Disaster Management.

Students from different schools were present with their best innovative ideas on various projects. Four storied building was converted into different sections of the given topics. Each room had four exhibits accompanied by one school teacher and two students. Six judges appointed by CBSE judged the projects thoroughly. The function was inaugurated by Ranjana Saikia, Director TERI, RP Sharma, Academic consultant at CBSE. School principal Ashutosh Batta declared the exhibit open. About 160 projects were displayed.

Prior to declaration of the results, Ranjana Saikia said, "Everyone is the best. Judges will have a tough time to choose from so many best projects." One of the judges NK Sehgal said, "Everybody is a winner, nobody is a loser. It was very difficult to decide on the 15 best projects."

Judges declared 15 best projects in different categories, in Environmental Issues Shikhita Gupta and Lokesh Aggarwal from Mamta Modern Sr. Sec. School got the first position, in Agriculture category Apoorvi Dwivedi and Tanmaya Murthy from Queen's Valley School bagged the first position. Winner of Energy theme were Akshat Aggarwal and Shivam Goel from DPS, RK Puram.

FOR ADS

Please Call 9818530778

